

The Request Conflict report provides a list of courses whose placement in the schedule must be evaluated very carefully based on student requests so that students requesting several singletons will be able to get their requests fulfilled.

School: LINCOLN, ABRAHAM MIDDLE

Request Conflict Report

A request conflict is a potential scheduling conflict, and it basically shows course pairs where a student has requested both. These conflicts are useful when planning where to place courses that have few sections. Keep the report options limited as much as possible. A required course that meets every period will conflict with every other course, and the resulting report will be long and difficult to work with.
