

May	1	Renunciation	Noun	A denial or rejections of something, often for moral or religious reasons
	2	Schism	Noun	Division of a group into mutually antagonistic and disagreeing factions. A faction formed after a disagreement
	3	Languish	Verb	To undergo hardship as a result of being deprived of something, typically independence, attention, or freedom
	6	Clairvoyance	Noun	The ability to see things beyond normal vision, events from the future, or those who have died
	7	Proclivity	Noun	An inherent tendency to behave in a particular way, especially an attraction to objectionable or immoral activity or behavior
	8	Pontificate	Verb	To speak about something in a knowing and self-important way, often without qualification.
	9	Savoir Faire	Noun	The ability to act appropriately and adroitly in any situation, an obvious sense of confidence and proficiency
	10	Taxonomy	Noun	A logical system that describes the inter-relationships of different things.
	13	Chicanery	Noun	Deception or trickery, especially that achieved by clever argument or manipulation of facts
	14	Polyglot	Noun	Able to read, write, and speak many languages
	15	Harangue	Verb	To rant, to criticize or question in a very loud, forceful or angry way, usually in public and in an embarrassing manner
	16	Gallantry	Noun	Courtesy, thoughtfulness, and bravery, nobility or chivalry, especially in actions toward women.
	17	Gamut	Noun	The full range or extent
	20	Salience	Noun	The quality of being important or striking, a particularly important relevant point of discussion
	21	Reprehensible	Adj	Extremely unacceptable and deserving of censure, abhorrent and morally inexcusable
	22	Faux Pas	Noun	An embarrassing social blunder; a behavioral error
	23	Gesticulation	Noun	A movement of hands or arms that accompanies speech, usually for emphasis.
	24	Sanctum	Noun	A sacred place inside of a church, mosque, or temple. A quiet and private place free of interference or interruption
27	HOLIDAY	HOLIDAY	HOLIDAY
28	Umbrage	Noun	Resentment or annoyance arising from an offense; something or someone causing intense irritation	