

Useful IB WEBSITES

This site provides student access to IBO and is used by the student to obtain exam results once they are published in July. A student will need their identification (personal code and pin code) to access results.

<https://candidates.ibo.org>

This site provides information useful to parents, students and teachers. Some resources are free but many are not. Eastside does provide our students with Oxford Study Guides for most classes but this site would allow students to purchase their own materials.

There are also SL and HL math materials accessible here that are free.

www.osc-ib.com

This site is the official one for IB. While it can be challenging sometimes to navigate, it does provide useful information about the program, testing and other assessments, core components like CAS and the like.
